

The Mountain Lions
of Ben Lomond & the Santa Cruz Mountains
10 YEARS OF STUDY

Now in its 10th year, the Santa Cruz Puma Project has made great strides in understanding our elusive top predator, the mountain lion. In this talk, Chris Wilmers (the project leader) will discuss research findings over the past 10 years. Come hear about mountain lion behavior and ecology, food habits, how they communicate with each other and find mates, where they like to hang out, how many calories they expend moving around and killing prey, how many there are, and more!
